Our Prestige services

Our hospitality offering:

Concierges and security guards in one

Dressed to exude professionalism, our security guards not only safeguard your property, but also provide elevated concierge and front desk services. As experts of first impressions, all security officers complete specialized concierge training as well as our proprietary Customer First Service training program, culminating with a pledge to deliver exceptional customer experiences.

Our security offering:

A collaborative partnership in emergency preparedness

We support our commercial real estate and upscale residential clients with additional program offerings to increase emergency preparedness and reduce business risk. We can provide a full range of training courses on a variety of topics including situational awareness, workplace violence, emergency procedures, civil unrest, and business continuity — ultimately, positioning them as subject matter experts to their tenant base.

Raise your expectations of what security can be.
